

Photos by JON M. FLETCHER/The Times-Union

Bicyclists speed down the Baldwin Rail Trail to raise money for the nonprofit Jessica Green Foundation in the third annual Ride with Me for Autism event on Saturday. Riders could choose from rides of 10, 29 or 62 miles.

With daughter Sarah, 7, and son Thomas, 10, who is autistic, on his electric-powered bike, Rom Alderman sets out to raise money for the Jacksonville-based nonprofit Jessica Green Foundation in the third annual Ride with Me for Autism event.

After a night of freezing temperatures, the steam from a cyclist's hot beverage mingles with her exhaled breath as she waits to participate in the event.

J PHOTOS

There are many more pictures of the Ride with Me for Autism event on our Web site.
jacksonville.com/photos